

A woman with long dark hair, wearing a red sleeveless top and dark pants, is sitting on a bench. She is looking towards the camera with a slight smile. The background is blurred, showing what appears to be a public space with other people and structures.

As with many other countries, corruption is a problem in Thailand. Bribing is illegal, but it is done anyway, without repercussion.

Prostitution is another social problem, especially in the tourist areas near the beaches.

Trafficking of women and children is an issue that has gained world-wide attention.

Trafficking of drugs, especially the common “yaba,” or “madness drug” is also a social problem.

Alcoholism is another social issue, and drunk driving causes many accidents, especially during the holidays.
